

Why The Faith?

Just Why Is It Called THE faith?

It's called Affirming The Faith not because I think there's only one faith around (there patently isn't), but because I firmly believe in objective reality (there's only one reality, though peoples' ideas about what that might be, or their perceptions of it, may be very different (and patently are)).

That is, I'm not a Postmodernist, or a relativist of any kind. There is one truth; personally, I believe orthodox Christianity has it.

I may be wrong, but if so, I'm totally wrong - Christianity cannot be half right, or a bit right.
